Our Mediterranean Sea.

The guif of Mexico will some day be the Mediterranesa sea of the New World. As the Old World sprang up around the waters of the Mediterranean, and empires of war and empires of commerce grew to greatness on its shares, so will the waters of the gu f be the next greater theater of human enter price and endeavor. As there was but one Medi errancan in the Old World, there is but one Mediterraneau in the New. The Mediteranean was not only the scene, it was the nurse of empire. Its shores were empires, divided only by the blue bayeand seas of its sinuous shore lines. They drew their of its shuous shore lines. They drew their prosperity, the very courage and hardibood of their warriors, from its waters. The breezes that bellied the Presiden sails as they drove from Type or Carthage to far Tarshish or the Cantharider, eart Greek and Roman galleys over the Adriatic, the Ionian, and the Typhene seas, and filled the soldiers pires of the world will grow to power. There is not on the globe a sheet of water so favorable to commerce and whose shores are so richly endowed. The Mediterranean in its glory, though more picturesque and entrant-merce of the richest country of the world, poured its tressures upon the waters. And yet it nourished the mightiest nations of the world and finated for 2000 years the gold-laden ships of Piccaica and Solomon, the olive and grape and wheat galleys of Greece of Spair. - Consider for a moment the great advantages of the guif, as indicating by silent pro-phecy the future of our Mediterranean. A climate as balmy as I sly's warms its wa-ters and its shores It is almost inclosed by

Again, the gulf will yet be the ocean highway of nations. It is the great natural basin of two continents. It is said that two blocks of wood if dropped one each in the guif. In a few years a canal or ship rail-way will connect the Atlantic and Pacific, not at Panama, but at Nicaregua. Over the waters, then, of the Caribbean and gulf will pass the merchant fleets of the world as they girdle the globe When these things come, es they surely and shortly will, New Or-little dose gives you sleep as soft and sweet and natural es that of a bealthy child; and you wake clear minded, vigorous, and without any "after effects." So with gradually diminishing efficiency the drug works through the succeeding experiments; but by and by yeu find that to produce sleep you must steadily increase the dose. And then, of a sudden and without warning, the mysterious fluid seems to ressert over the constitution its pristine power, and the greatly increased dose puts you as soundly to sleep that you never awaken in this world.

iutions in memoriam, of thanks, tributes of respect,

If you wake up in the morning with a bitter or bad taste in your mouth, Languor, Dull Headache, Despondency, Constipation, take Simmons Liver Regulator. It corrects the bilious stomach, sweetens the breath and cleanses the furred tongue. Children as well as adults sometimes eat something that does not digest well, producing Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Restlessness, or Sleeplessness-a good dose of Regulator will give relief. So perfectly harmless is this remedy that it can be taken by the youngest infant or the most delicate person without injury, no matter what the condition of the system may be. It can do no harm if it does no good, but its reputation for 40 years proves it never fails in doing good.
